Brunner Sanden Dietrick Wellness Campus

A fitness center unlike any other in the area

Three requirements for success

“Success in making lifestyle changes of any kind requires three things: structure, support and tools,” says LiveHealthy director Laurie Cingle.

She recommends that you seek out programs—such as LiveHealthy, the medically based fitness center at the Brunner Sanden Dietrick Wellness Campus—that offer all three.

Structure

Structure involves a program or routine. For success, it’s crucial to have a set time, day and place—an appointment—to work toward your goal. LiveHealthy’s programming includes scheduled group exercise classes and fitness and nutrition clinics and lectures.

Support

Success is much easier with a champion—a friend, coach or instructor—to challenge, motivate and inspire you toward the goal. Gain support through camaraderie by joining LiveHealthy with a friend, family member or coworker, or connect with new friends there. You'll gain the professional support you need from LiveHealthy's dedicated staff. Degreed exercise specialists, certified personal trainers and group fitness instructors and credentialed aquatics staff are caring leaders who will monitor your progress, keep your drive alive and help you succeed. And they are advised by our medical director Robin Znidarsic, MD.

Tools

Examples of fitness tools include athletic shoes and clothes, a bike, pool, fitness equipment or basketball hoop. The tools LiveHealthy offers include state-of-the-art fitness equipment, an indoor track, weight room, gymnasium, rock-climbing wall, pools, and sauna and steam rooms.

So, whether your goal is to increase fitness, eat healthier, lose weight, lower your cholesterol or strengthen your heart, LiveHealthy has the structure, support and the tools you need to be successful.

Find out more

Attend our free monthly LiveHealthy Nutrition and Fitness Education Series, open to the public, no membership required. The series presents the latest topics in nutrition, fitness, and tips from registered dietitians and degreed exercise specialists. Space is limited, so call to reserve your spot.
